Cover image: "Student Mobe Poster: Two color poster created by members of the Student Mobilization Committee Against the War in Vietnam, a national organization formed in 1967. The poster, which made use of the upraised fist, a strong image of the antiwar movement, advertised a national student strike and march and variants were issued by local chapters of SMC. Although the SMC included individuals of many political persuasions, it was widely thought to be affiliated with the Socialist Workers Party." Circa October 1971.(Image ID 61413.) INTRODUCTION

During the late 1960's and early 1970's a number of national organizations were formed to mobilize and coordinate mass actions in protest against U.S. involvement in the war in Vietnam; the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, sometimes known as Student Mobe or SMC, was one of these. Although originally formed only with the immediate goal of marshalling campus opposition for the spring 1967 offensive, SMC grew to become one of the largest, longest-lived, and in some ways the most successful of the peace organizations. This success in mustering support for various mass actions arose from the committee's strict avoidance of civil disobedience and adherence to the policy of non-exclusion. The second principle, by which SMS welcomed all activists opposed to the war regardless of ideology or political philosophy, meant that it was able to avoid much of the internal factionalism which destroyed the other national anti-war coalitions.

Although leadership in the planning and staging of numerous mass actions was its primary purpose, the SMC also strongly supported the rights of anti-war soldiers and high school students, and it introduced the concept of the "anti-war university" to draw attention to the degree to which major universities were supporting the war through their research activities.

Wisconsin Historical Society

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

This microfilm publication consists of the records of a national coalition formed to coordinate opposition to U.S. involvement in the war in Vietnam among college and high school students. It includes steering committee minutes, correspondence, press materials, activity files, and financial records. Best represented is the early period (1966-1968) when the national office was headquartered in New York City. For this period there are exchanges between Kipp Dawson, Carol Lipman, Linda Morse, Syd Stapleton, and other staff members and various local and international affiliates and supporters. Most complete are the files on anti-war groups in California (some correspondence from Bettina Aptheker is included here), Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, and New York. Most extensive international contacts involved Australia, Canada, France, and Vietnam. Other files concern the G.I. Press Service, an arm of SMC which organized anti-war sentiment in the military. These files include materials on Allen Myers and Bob Wilkinson, who edited the service's underground newspaper, and on G.I. activist Howard Petrick. Also of interest are files on the 1968 attempt to exclude Dawson and Stapleton because of their membership in Young Socialists of America and financial correspondence of Ron Wolin concerning cocktail parties, art auctions, and other "radical chic" fund-raising activities. Activity files consist of flyers, printed materials, and clippings about various demonstrations, strikes and mass actions sponsored by Student Mobe either alone or in conjunction with other coalitions such as the National and New Mobilization Committees to End the War in Vietnam and the National Peace Action Coalition. For several of the national policy-making student conventions held by SMC there are copies of resolutions submitted for debate, although there are few proceedings.

National Steering Committee Records, 1967-1972, consist of meeting announcements, agenda, minutes, and other papers pertaining to the steering committee and also to the continuations, working, and interim working committees. Least represented is the working committee, which met weekly while the national office was headquartered in New York City.

Correspondence, 1966-1972, is arranged alphabetically by type: form letters sent primarily to local members and supporters, international and state correspondence, correspondence of Kipp Dawson and Syd Stapleton regarding their attempted ouster, and files of the G.I. Press Service. In addition to actual correspondence, some of these sections include related papers of various kinds.

Both the international and state sections are arranged alphabetically. The state correspondence, which is one of the largest and most useful portions of the collections, provides information on local antiwar activities. Some files, such as those for California, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, and New York, are quite extensive. Although many of the exchanges are routine, some of the best material on the early days of the student war movement may be found in the California file which contains several interesting letters from Bettina Aptheker. The international files, which contain extensive ex-changes with opponents of U.S. involvement in the war in Australia, Canada, France, Vietnam, and other countries, concern arrangements and reports on international student strikes and greetings for SMC conventions. Correspondence in both of these categories, which was most often signed by Kipp Dawson, Syd Stapleton, Carol Lipman and Linda Morse, tapers off with the removal from New York City.

Also extensive are the files of the G.I. Press Service, an arm of SMC, which served as a news service for underground G.I. newspapers and whose publication of the same name served as the anti-war paper for soldiers on posts where there was no underground paper. Included here are exchanges between individual G.I.s and various underground post newspapers and editors Allen Myers and Bob Wilkinson. Also included is correspondence on early G.I. organizing by SMC staff member Howard Petrick prior to the formation of the press service. Also present in this section of the collection are letters, press releases, mailing lists and miscellany; a nearly complete run of G.I. Press Service has been transferred to the Society Library. Also transferred to the Library was an extensive collection of post newspapers collected by the press service.

Activity Files, 1967-1972, concern not only SMC-sponsored activities, but also other demonstrations, marches, and protest activities which SMC sponsored either alone or in conjunction with New and National Mobilization Committees to End the War in Vietnam and the National Peace Action Coalition. Although these files are primarily arranged by the date, some activities (most notably SMC's high school organizing and its exposure of campus complicity in the war effort) did not focus on a particular event and are thus filed alphabetically by subject. This section contains limited correspondence, but there are press releases, flyers, and clippings. For SMC's national anti-war conferences there are also copies of proposals submitted to the delegation for discussion.

Press Materials, 1967-1973, include press releases, flyers, and mailing lists.

Financial Records, 1967-1971, are quite spotty with the exception of a file of widely distributed fundraising appeals and a file regarding the activities of Ron Wolin, director of special events. This file, which concerns various cocktail parties, art exhibits and other events held by the New York chapter of SMC, is of interest for the light that it sheds on the phenomenon known as "radical chic."

Clippings, date 1969-1972.

SOURCE AND EDITORIAL NOTE

The documents reproduced in this publication are from the holdings of the Wisconsin Historical Society Archives and encompass the manuscript records of the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, Mss 339. The documents comprising Mss 339 have been filmed in their entirety. The Photographs Series (PH Mss 339) has not been microfilmed. Not available for microfilming were runs of Student Mobilizer, High School Mobilizer, and several other national and local SMC serials. These are available in the Library of the Wisconsin Historical Society.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Primary Source Media would like to acknowledge Dr. Peter Gottlieb, Carolyn Mattern, and the staff at the Wisconsin Historical Society for their support of this microfilm publication.

PRINCIPAL CORRESPONDENTS INDEX

The following index is a guide to the major correspondents in this microfilm publication. The first number after each entry refers to the reel, while the number following the colon refers to a numbered folder on that reel. Hence 12: 171, 173 directs the researcher to the folders numbered 171 and 173 on reel 12. Each folder is located on the reel in numerical order and introduced with a title page. These correspondents will not necessarily be found at the beginning of the designated folder, but will be located within it. By referring to the Reel Index, which constitutes the initial section of this guide, the researcher will find the folder title, inclusive dates, and a list of major subjects, arranged in the order they appear on the film.

SUBJECT INDEX

The following index is a guide to major subjects found in this microfilm publication. The first number after each entry refers to the reel, while the number following the colon refers to a numbered folder on that reel. Hence 4:29, 30, 31 directs the researcher to the folders numbered 29, 30, and 31 on reel 4. Each folder is located on the reel in numerical order and introduced with a title page. These subjects will not necessarily be found at the beginning of the designated folder, but will be located within it. This subject index is best used in conjunction with the reel index, which lists not only folder numbers, but folder titles as well.
